Pay Your Year 2000 Dues!

Editor's Note

Well, we were a bit short on member participation for articles this issue, but hopefully you will find items that are of interest. And since it is December, it is also time for the dues; see page 14 for more information. It is gratifying to see several new members this time. We hope that they enjoy their APMS experience. And, as if we haven't stressed it enough, please send in your free classified ad each month and consider submitting an article for publication.

Barbara and I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Let's see, my bag has lots of items like,

Fun Money

December 1999 – Issue 15

Editor-at-fault
Jack Phillips

Fun Money, a newsletter of the American Play Money Society (APMS) for education and fun, is published quarterly to publicize activities of the Society and to distribute educational information regarding play money to society members. The editor will make final decisions about stories and ads for publication. Contents of articles and ads represent views of the authors and do not necessarily represent views of either the editor or Society officers. Back issues from 1999 are available for $2.00 each.

Each APMS member is encouraged to send a free ad of up to five lines for each issue of Fun Money. Ads will not be run continuously, so please send a new ad each time.

AD RATES

Business card (1/8 page): four issues for $6.00. Camera ready: $12.00 full page, $6.00 for 1/2 page, and $3.00 for 1/4 page.

MALLO CUP

Play
Money

By Jack Phillips

Many of us received Mallo Cup Play Money cards with the milk chocolate candy we received as children. Richard Clothier, an APMS member, has a very good description of the program in his book, Play Money of American Children, and I will quote it below with his permission.

"Mallo Cup candy made by Boyer Bros., Inc. of Altoona, PA has had a redemption plan for free or discounted candy since the early 1960's. The packages still include a square cardboard card of instructions for redemption. On the corner of the card is a cut out Mallo Cup Play Money coin in denominations of 1¢, 5¢, 10¢, and 25¢. Originally, there were 50¢ and $1.00 coins also. The current plan offers a $1.00 good for coupon when you send in $5.00 worth of play coins. The original plan offered 10 full size candy bars for the same $5.00 worth of play coins. During the earlier period, Boyer maintained a Free Goods Department with a substantial number of employees answering mail from all over the U.S.A. Several years ago the company discontinued the coin program. This started an avalanche of mail from consumers expressing their disappointment. The public won and the coin program was revived, but with some changes. Coupons were the prize instead of free candy bars and the color of the play money was changed. The original coins were printed in red ink; the new ones were blue. Still, it is good to see that play money collectors have enough power to change the course of history."

While searching on the internet for more information I found to my surprise that the Mallo Cup candy is still sold today. A search of the local stores turned up nothing, so it was back to the computer. After some hunting a retailer appeared that handled the candy and naturally I placed an order. In short order I received a large yellow box containing 24 individual packages that each held two candy cups and one play money card.

Barbara and I consumed all of them (in the name of research) and found the following mix of cards. All were long blue "C's" with eleven 5¢, four 10¢, four 25¢, and five 50¢ cards, which made a nice variety.

A letter requesting information about the company and their Mallo Cup Candy was sent to the home address of the Boyer Candy Company; however, they never replied. Therefore, the remainder of this article pictures the different coins known to the author and provides a table of different types and colors. Any additional information from members would be appreciated.

An individual package above and the box below (much reduced).

Play Money (Bullseyes)

The pictured coin is new to your editor and I have listed it as P277 in my collection to match the numbers in Richard Clothier's book, Play Money of American Children. It is made of brass and measures 16mm in diameter. This particular piece has an interesting die crack on the obverse, which should show up in the picture (depending on our print shop). Are these rare or did it just take a long time for me to come across one?

FM

OLD WEST TOKENS

These round, aluminum tokens are about 26mm or one inch in diameter and were found by Randy Partin. There are five different types; however, each has the same reverse which reads "Old West Trail". Nothing is known about their origin or use and any information that can be provided will be shared with all our members. Does anyone have any other varieties of these?

TOONERVILLE FOLKS PLAY MONEY

By Jack Phillips

This summer, while nosing around an antique shop in downtown Butte, Montana, Barbara and I came across a stack of old Sunday comic strips that appeared to be mostly from the 1930's. Thinking that there might be a possibility of some Lucky Bucks in them we started pawing through the stack. There were several hundred, so this was a big commitment on our part to take this much time away from other "treasure hunting". Unfortunately, there were no Lucky Bucks at all even though the time period seemed to match up. Perhaps another collector had already done the same thing. But actually our luck was really good.

On the reverse side of a comic section from the Sunday, May 7, 1933, Butte Montana Standard, was a Toonerville Folks comic strip containing a Play Money piece! And there were several more. Most of these sheets were a single page, which was the front page of the section in most cases. Each of the sheets found with play money had a Strange As It Seems strip on the front page, leaving us to believe that someone had collected that particular strip and not the one on the reverse side. On each page Toonerville Folks takes up four rows and the bottom row is Little Stanley, who is also seen on some of the money. Each play money bill measures about 3 1/2 inches wide by 1 1/2 inches high and is in the colors of the funny paper.

The May 7 piece shows The Absent Minded Professor, who stars in that particular strip, and has the denomination of 20. A list of the notes we found is shown on the next page.

None of the notes were the same, even if they starred the same character. We will never know if this is the entire run, but we did note that some of the Sundays had the Toonerville Folks strip, but did not have any play money. This leads us to believe that perhaps they were randomly inserted in the strip.

I previously had several notes like these in my collection, but did not know their origin. And mine were not in color as are these notes. The ones already in the collection that are different from the notes above are:

- | | | |
|----|-------------------------------------|--------|
| 1. | Little Stanley, Happy New Year 1934 | 10,000 |
| 2. | Merry Christmas | 1 |
| 3. | "Suitcase" Simpson | 20 |
| 4. | The Absent Minded Professor | 2000 |
| 5. | The Constabule | 500 |

I look forward to hearing from others who have this particular variety of play money. It is always satisfying to track down the exact time period and origin of any play money, especially something as neat as this!

Annual Dues

This issue of Fun Money completes another year for The American Play Money Society and brings us to the subject of dues for next year. Even though the expenses pretty much out ran the income this year, we have decided to keep the year 2000 dues at an affordable $7.00 ($9.00 for a family membership). The contributions received from several members last year really helped and made a noticeable difference. You should find a dues notice enclosed (unless you have already paid your dues), so just send it and your check on in while you are thinking of it. Lets have a 100% renewal rate this year!

Found on The Web

This note was seen on the eBay auction site, but was too expensive for the editor. It measures about 9 1/4 inches by 4 1/2 inches. Apparently its desirability was enhanced by the recent bankruptcy of Planet Hollywood and the Singapore location had already closed when the auction was held. These will all probably be difficult to find in the future.

Franc Connor recently found these items that are used by the Checkers Hamburger chain primarily for the workers. They come in five denominations: 10, 20, 50, 100, & 200; are printed in dark green on a white background and measure 3 3/8 inches by 6 1/8 inches. Both sides are the same, except each note has its own serial number, which is printed on one side only.

SETS Meeting

The Southeastern Token Society (SETS) is having their winter meeting on January 22, 2000, in Pensacola, Florida. For the program they have asked your editor to do a presentation about Play Money. So, naturally we would like to have any APMS members attend that would find it convenient. SETS always blocks a number of rooms at the motel where the meeting is held and many of the members show up on Friday night for an informal trading session. The meeting itself normally starts about 9 AM and runs to about 3 PM. If you are interested in obtaining more details, please contact your editor or APMS member Steve Ratliff (see his new address on page 14).
